

Smug Elitist Ella Emhoff Is The Poster Child Of White Privilege and Sleep-your-way-to-the-top Political Corruption

Judging by her dating profiles, her mom's lack of morality and her endless supply of covert cash from secret family trust accounts, Ella has a carefree life. Her disdain for everything can be clearly seen by her extreme displays of her massive armpit hair and her deviant eyebrow manipulations during the live Presidential ceremony.

She does not, for a moment, hesitate to exploit The White House for her constant cash grab and fame whore life-style.

The Kamala Harris clan have relied on crony political payola, squirreled away in secret accounts, to exist. They only hang out with crony insiders and practically live at snooty San Francisco mansion parties. The family trades political favors for stock market perks in epic quid pro quo.

Kamala Harris has a disgusting family secret that will sink her campaign.

Kamala Harris (D-CA) was once seen as a frontrunner in the very crowded field of Democrats vying for the 2020 nomination to take on Donald Trump.

No sooner had she reached front runner status than the bad news started to hit.

First, there was her affair with California political kingpin Willie Brown. Including Brown stating that Harris was his mistress and that he helped her move up the ladder in politics.

While he didn't come right out and say it, he described very clearly the definition of "sleeping her way to the top."

Now, even more damaging news is starting to surface about Harris' family that is shedding light on her complete hypocrisy.

One of Harris' biggest issues has been pushing for reparations to the descendants of slaves, using taxpayer money of course.

Not mentioned by her is the cost of reparations would be a staggering $14 trillion, further bankrupting our nation.

And now it turns out there is a deep, dark family secret that Harris desperately tried to keep hidden. Enter her father, David J. Harris. In an op-ed he wrote in Jamaica Global Online Harris said this about the family's roots:

“MY ROOTS GO BACK, WITHIN MY LIFETIME, TO MY PATERNAL GRANDMOTHER MISS CHRISHY (NÉE CHRISTIANA BROWN, DESCENDANT OF HAMILTON BROWN WHO IS ON RECORD AS PLANTATION AND SLAVE OWNER AND FOUNDER OF BROWN’S TOWN) AND TO MY MATERNAL GRANDMOTHER MISS IRIS (NÉE IRIS FINEGAN, FARMER AND EDUCATOR, FROM AENON TOWN AND INVERNESS, ANCESTRY UNKNOWN TO ME).”

That's right, Kamala Harris is a direct descendant of a plantation and slave owner, Hamilton Brown.

Brown was born in Ireland and became a sugar plantation owner and founder of Brown's Town in Jamaica. He was also, as it turns out, a rather brutal slave owner, with well-documented cases of abuse. In fact, the accounts of abuse of Brown's slaves is so well documented that Kamala Harris, if she wanted, could find, and start making reparations to the descendants of the slaves her family abused, tortured and murdered.

Much of this documentation can be found in a pamphlet written by Henry Whiteley titled "Three months in Jamaica in 1832, Comprising a Residence on a Sugar Plantation."

In this detailed account Whiteley describes vividly Brown's view on slavery, "...nor would the planters of Jamaica, he said, permit the interference of the Home Government with their slaves in any shape. A great deal was said by him and others present about the happiness and comfort enjoyed by the slaves, and the many advantages possessed by them of which the poor in England were destitute." He also describes in detail the brutality and abuse of Brown's slaves;

“THE FIRST WAS A MAN OF ABOUT THIRTY-FIVE YEARS OF AGE... AND HIS OFFENCE WAS HAVING SUFFERED A MULE TO GO ASTRAY. AT THE COMMAND OF THE OVERSEER HE PROCEEDED TO STRIP OFF PART OF HIS CLOTHES, AND LAID HIMSELF FLAT ON HIS BELLY, HIS BACK AND BUTTOCKS BEING UNCOVERED. ONE OF THE DRIVERS THEN COMMENCED FLOGGING HIM WITH THE CART WHIP... WHEN I SAW THIS SPECTACLE NOW FOR THE FIRST TIME EXHIBITED BEFORE MY OWN EYES, WITH ALL ITS REVOLTING ACCOMPANIMENTS, AND SAW THE DEGRADED AND MANGLED VICTIM WRITHING AND GROANING UNDER THE INFLICTION, I FELT HORROR-STRUCK. I TREMBLED AND TURNED SICK... THE SUFFERER, WRITHING LIKE A WOUNDED WORM, EVERY TIME THE LASH CUT ACROSS HIS BODY, CRIED OUT, ‘LORD! LORD! LORD!’... THE NEGRO CONTINUING TO CRY ‘LORD! LORD! LORD!’ TILL THIRTY-NINE LASHES HAD BEEN INFLICTED. WHEN THE MAN ROSE UP FROM THE GROUND, I PERCEIVED THE BLOOD OOZING OUT FROM THE LACERATED AND [ILLEGIBLE] PARTS WHERE HE HAD BEEN FLOGGED; AND HE APPEARED GREATLY EXHAUSTED. BUT HE WAS INSTANTLY ORDERED OFF TO HIS USUAL OCCUPATION.”

Whiteley's accounts go on in more sickening detail, including the torture and abuse of women and young boys.

And Brown was adamant about slavery that he didn't stop, even after Jamaican slaves were freed.

Given Kamala Harris' views on reparations will she be heading to Jamaica soon to give her personal reparation checks to the descendants of those slaves her family brutalized?

Or, will she insist you pay for reparations of her family's slaves?

Critics of the trailblazing prosecutor-turned-senator have warned that Harris has a chequered past people are selectively ignoring. They warn that Harris has a dark side, which many in mainstream media have been eager to gloss over.

Here is a compilation of some events and allegations from her history which has led critics to allege that Kamala Harris has a dark side.

1. "Kamala Harris Slept Her Way To The Top"

Critics have alleged that despite her talents, Harris slept her way to the top. They highlight her relationship with Willie Brown, a powerhouse in California politics who was 30 years older than Harris.

From his powerful position, Brown appointed Harris to the California Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board and the Medical Assistance Commission — positions that together paid her around $80,000 a year on top of her prosecutor's salary.

Brown who later became the Mayor of San Francisco, last year claimed that while dating Harris, he gave her powerful and influential appointments that furthered her political career. In a letter to the San Francisco Chronicle, Brown wrote,

"Yes, we dated. It was more than 20 years ago...Yes, I may have influenced her career by appointing her to two state commissions when I was Assembly speaker,"

"And I certainly helped with her first race for district attorney in San Francisco,"

"The difference is that Harris is the only one who, after I helped her, sent word that I would be indicted if I 'so much as jaywalked' while she was D.A.," Brown wrote. "That's politics for ya."

2. Kamalan Harris Is Excessively Punitive And Treated Parents Of Absentee Children As Criminals

The former presidential candidate has been accused of being excessively punitive with no regard for the consequences of her actions.

When she was district attorney, Kamala Harris established a truancy court that prosecuted parents if their children missed school. In 2010, Harris sponsored a state law that made truancy a criminal misdemeanor. As a result of the law, dozens of parents have been charged across California and at least 2 parents have served jail time.

Some of the people who suffered from the truancy laws include chronically ill people and single mothers as well as parents of children who had been traumatized by perpetual bullying at schools.

Critics of truancy crackdowns say such efforts unfairly target poor parents and children without actually helping students.

3. Harris Ignored Police Brutality and Black Lives Matter Movement Until It Was Convenient.

Harris stands accused of turning a blind eye to police brutality and the Black Lives Matter Movement until it was convenient and politically expedient for her to do so.

Kamala told the Hooker's Union in San Francisco that she was "an unofficial prostitute".

When she was Attorney General, Harris refused to investigate the police shootings of two Black men in 2014 and 2015. She also did not support a 2015 bill in the state assembly that would have required the attorney general to appoint a special prosecutor who specializes in police use of deadly force.

Surprisingly, in 2019 Harris called for mandatory independent reviews of police shootings, something she had rejected.

Brendon Woods, the public defender of Alameda County told The New Yorker,

"She was A.G. when Black Lives Matter was taking hold and we were focussing on state brutality and state-sanctioned murder. She gave us silence."

4. Harris Mocked The Slogan To End Mass Incarceration: "Schools Not Jails"

In video footage from 2013, Harris appears to mock those on the left who chanted reforms like "build schools, not jails" and "put more money into education, not prisons" Her response suggests that they are naive sloganeers who do not understand crime prevention.

Critics argue that this depicts that Harris was more interested in sending people to prison rather than looking at preemptive measures to reduce crime.

5. Kamala Harris Fought Tooth And Nail To Uphold Wrongful Convictions

Both as district attorney and as state attorney general, Harris led offices that criminal justice advocates say was overly aggressive in pursuing convictions and lacked transparency. She is alleged to have “fought tooth and nail to uphold wrongful convictions that had been secured through official misconduct that included evidence tampering, false testimony and the suppression of crucial information by prosecutors.”

In March 2010, just as Harris was campaigning to become California’s attorney general, San Francisco authorities shut down a police department crime lab in the city’s Hunters Point naval yard. A technician named Deborah Madden was accused of skimming drugs, raising broader questions about the lab’s ability to appropriately handle evidence in criminal cases. (Madden later pleaded guilty).

Harris immediately dismissed 20 drug cases, but the number eventually grew to over 1,500 after documents showed that prosecutors within Harris’ office had known about Madden’s potential unreliability months before the lab was closed, but had neglected to tell defense attorneys.

A superior court judge later excoriated Harris’ office, writing that the violations infringed on the defendants’ constitutional rights. Harris said did not know about the problems at the crime lab until after the scandal blew up.

In 2015, lawyers for an inmate convicted of murder attempted to have the case thrown out after new evidence suggested that Riverside County prosecutors lied on the stand during the initial trial. Harris’ office, representing the state prison system, resisted, only backing down after footage of one of her deputies being eviscerated by three federal judges went viral.